CCA Andratx is pleased to present the new exhibition by the Swedish artist Joakim Eneroth. "Whispering Void" is an innovative art exhibition about the true nature of mind, explored through levitating sculptures, 3D hologram photos as well as a meditation art performance event.

In "Whispering Void" Joakim Eneroth investigates the question of how to reveal the subconscious layers and patterns of our human experience. The photographic artwork makes visible the dance of notions and perceptions in the fluctuating mind. The reflections usually revolve around how to distinguish the mental projections from reality itself. Awareness, consciousness and mind are base themes that unite in Eneroth's work.

WHISPERING VOID

OPENING AT CCA ANDRATX

The exhibition comprises three series of works – or parts – revolving around one same theme. The first part analyses the subject from an Eastern philosophical point of view; the second part, comprehends an exploration from a Western psychological perspective combined with a contemporary neuroscience approach. Finally, the third part investigates the differences between those two points of view.

With each new series, the artist explores a new aspect of consciousness and the boundaries where our inner and outer worlds meet. This art exploration has led Eneroth to develop new techniques such as creating levitating sculptures and holograms by means of three-dimensional hologram photographs, all of them manifesting the shifts and movements of the transparent mind.

The American video artist Bill Viola describes Joakim Eneroth's work as: "[...] the vivid record of a personal journey to uncover the fundamental emptiness that lies beyond and beneath our day-to-day experience of the world. The result is a profound meditation on impermanence and emptiness in contemporary life and the fullness that emerges within us when our inner mirror is finally polished and the clutter long blocking our vision is cleansed. [...]"

MEDITATION ART PERFORMANCE

Beyond Silence - A freedom method

28.08.19 – 13h

This art performance has been created as a guided meditation where Joakim Eneroth leads us into the landscape of our minds and points out the overlooked aspects where an inner freedom can be found. He will use traditional eastern freedom methods which have been secularized and transformed into a contemporary art expression. He will explore if these secularised freedom methods potentially can be used in different areas of our western society in the same way that for example mindfulness, which is an eastern secularized stress reduction method, is currently commonly used in the west.

Participation is free
