On starting another conversation about comparative feminism

Dec 2nd 2017 – April 20th 2018
2017?12?02? ?? 2018?4?20?

Feminism is one of the most important social terms in the contemporary world. Not only because half of the world's population is feminine. Feminism, alongside globalization, population migration, and technological advancement, is one of the major factors changing the existing social order and influencing our understanding of what it is to – to be a human.
